

Good Leadership Examples

“We have all worked for bosses in our lives, and their examples, both good and bad, can teach us much about becoming true leaders.

Hopefully, you have worked for some good leaders or had the opportunity to observe good leaders in action.

Consider some of the things you have seen or experienced that constituted good leadership and how they motivated or energized you to work or do better.

Use any example you can think of to illustrate a good leader or work environment.

Discussion Points: This is a great exercise to let your managers talk about their own experiences with good leadership. Relating positive examples of how a good leader or mentor impacted their lives is a great way to illustrate the immense difference good leaders can make.

Take Away: As one senior club executive said, “The more you know about leadership, the more you realize it’s all about leadership.”
